Abstract

"the thread in the hand of a loving mother, the clothes of a wandering child, close stitching before leaving, and fear of being late. Who says" inch grass heart, get three spring rays? "All say that there is one of the kindest and greatest women in the world, she is our mother, and all say that there is one of the most beautiful and gentle voices in the world, that is, the mother's call to her children, saying that there is one of the greatest, selfless and industrious in the world People, she, or our mother!"

Keywords

mother; appropriate; ups and downs; smooth sailing; care; mutual help.

1. I Believe in Fate, and I Believe in the Appropriateness of Life

Parents love each other appropriately and then help each other. We two appear in the life of mom and dad appropriately. The four of us are lucky enough to be a family, moving slowly through the clouds of life. Today, I write down these words without logic. I hope it can be simple enough to record our love and life.

2. Life has Thousands of Tastes and Attitudes

Bitterness is life, and bitterness is life. I love my mother very much. In her life, only life brings her bitterness without taste of sweetness. She is a common and ordinary person of thousands of tourists, but it is the warmest place in my heart. No matter you are proud or frustrated, she will always look at you affectionately behind her. She glanced at you inadvertently and turned her head, which is already surging.

3. She is the Fifth in the Family. She is the Youngest Child in the Family, but Also the Child who Suffers the Most

Before her grandfather died, she had a period of carefree life. It's just that there is no such smooth sailing in life. Maybe God is a little jealous of the beauty of others, so he sent illness to take grandpa's life. She was only 17 years old when grandpa died. I can't imagine how hard life she had with grandma before she married. After about six or seven years, my father climbed two mountains and walked hundreds of miles to marry my mother back home. It sounds really outrageous and funny. After a year or two, my sister was born. I was born in their first year. Probably in this short ten years is the only time in her life to feel relaxed and happy.

4. Good Luck Doesn't Always Care for Anyone. God is Unfair

When I was six years old, my father had an accident on the construction site... At that time, there were two children in my family who were studying. At a glance, they were in a mess. If they wanted to survive, they would have to have a good time. But I am very glad that my mother did not "abandon" us, but has been around with us. Life is really hard. The first time I saw my mother cry was when she complained to my aunt that she couldn't leave. She had two children. I think this is a promise, not only for children but also for families. From then on, my mother began to live from dawn to dusk. When it was still hazy, my mother left the door and came home in the evening dragging her tired body. If you are tired, you still have to get up the next day, because this is life. At that time, life was really out of sight, and you couldn't see the direction of life. Many times I dare not to recall that period of time, because it not only represents the poverty at that time, but also reminds me of the suffering that my mother suffered for us at that time. Ten years of persistence has supported us for a day, and ten years of strong forbearance has brought her a lot of pain and illness.

5. As the Days Passed, She Could not Bear the Burden of Life

She is still working day by day, the years did not tolerate her, long years of accumulation in addition to a body of pain and face of old. The wrinkles climbed up the corner of the eye and the skin became loose. But I'm glad that she hasn't been defeated by life and can still restore her hope for life when the sun rises as usual.

6. Time is a Just Thief. He Stole his Mother's Youth and Gave it to Us

But I didn't have my mother's perseverance and persistence, nor her sense. I evaded the college entrance examination and came to this city where I couldn't tell my feelings. There was a kind of cordiality, but sometimes there was a kind of trance. But I remember that the place I wanted to go was not like this. It is Mao Zedong's greedy for "just drinking long river water and eating Wuchang fish", and Li Zhiyi's yearning for "I live in the head of the Yangtze River, you live in the tail of the Yangtze River, and I miss you day by day and drink long river water together". But everyone has a kind of natural inertia, incompetence and cowardice without courage to yield to the warmth of reality, ruthless and unwilling retreat is just a punishment. I don't want them to see my unwillingness, but my mood will climb to my face. My mother scolded herself that she was not useful enough. She said that if I didn't come, she would still work hard for several years. But I dare not let her go on like this, she has paid enough, I can't bear it and don't want to.

Mother always has a habit, no matter where I leave home or where I come home, she will stand at the door and look. Many moments of silent looking are sad and bitter. "Worry about children and mothers" is concerned about us, worried about us and still afraid to let go. Long Yingtai's "seeing him off" said: I slowly and slowly learned that the so-called father daughter mother son scene only means that you and her fate is to see his back away in this life. You stand at this end of the path, watching him disappear at the turning point of the path, and he tells you with his back: don't chase. With the times of leaving home more and more, I understand this kind of mood more and more. It's worrying that someone will ask you for help when the weather is fine.

7. The Warmth in Life is the Persistence of Parents, the Indomitable in Poverty, and the Mutual Help in the Same Time

I am grateful for those years, is a family to leave each other, but also the true family. Mother is a great person, Yamagata witnessed her diligence, the sun and the moon stars accompany her through those hard years. My mother often told me that she probably owed our family in her last life, so this life must be used to repay. Every time we listen to such words, we will feel bitter. We have never been creditors. We are debtors. In this life, we owe her too much and can't repay her. She's just a simple ferryman. She's just a shipwrecker who meets us.

8. Concluding Suggestions

Time, may you be kind to my mother. People who have experienced great storms also want to have a calm life. Don't let fate give her twists and turns. Years, you go a little slower and don't erode her body any more. Give me some time to grow in exchange for me to protect them. Time can not look back, it will only push people forward step by step, not give you too much time to look back. Let us, in this ordinary and plain day, go down with each other, let the years slow down, and then slow down.
