1. Introduction

Since December 2019, the new type of coronavirus has gradually spread. Due to the sudden increase in cases of pneumonia caused by the virus, on January 12, 2020, the World Health Organization officially named the new type of coronavirus that caused the Wuhan pneumonia epidemic as the 2019 new type of coronavirus (2019-nCoV). On January 20, 2020, the National Health Commission announced that 2019-nCoV-infected pneumonia will be included in Category B infectious diseases and quarantine infectious diseases, and Category A management will be adopted. The current 2019-nCoV-infected pneumonia epidemic has attracted worldwide attention. On February 28, 2020, the WHO announced that the global risk level of the new crown pneumonia epidemic was raised to "very high". The epidemic has gradually spread globally, and the spread of the epidemic in South Korea, Japan, Iran, Italy and other countries has gradually expanded. Under the unified leadership and careful deployment of the Party Central Committee, governments at all levels in our country have adopted a series of measures to control the development of the epidemic; medical staff across the country are fighting on the front line; grassroots prevention work is carried out in all directions and full coverage. The new type of coronavirus has severely affected the lives, health and safety of the people of our country and the development of the national economy. Winning this people's war brooks no delay.

Xi Jinping emphasized that doing a good job in the prevention and control of the epidemic is directly related to people's life safety and physical health, directly related to the overall economic and social stability, and also related to my country's opening to the outside world. [1] Now, the most critical issue is to pay close attention to the implementation work. Party committees and governments at all levels must strengthen the "four consciousnesses", strengthen the "four self-confidence", achieve "two safeguards", earnestly implement the decisions and deployments of the Party Central Committee, and regard epidemic prevention and control as the most important task at present. In accordance with the requirements of firm confidence, mutual assistance, scientific prevention, and precise policy implementation, we will find gaps and make up for shortcomings as soon as possible, and do a good job in various prevention and control work, race against time, fight against the disease, resolutely curb the spread of the epidemic, and resolutely win the epidemic prevention Control blocking battle.

Winning the battle against the epidemic, the battle to defend people's health, and the battle to defend economic development are currently the key tasks and outstanding links of Chinese society, as well as one of the major challenges facing the international community. In the process of the outbreak of the new coronavirus and its spread to control, our country should always adhere to the unified leadership of the party, comprehensively improve the ability to prevent, control and govern according to the law and the construction of a governance system, and adhere to the responsibility of China as a major country.

2. We Must Always Adhere to the Party's Unified Leadership

2.1. Always Adhere to the Unified Leadership of the Party Central Committee

The official document of the Fourth Plenary Session of the 19th Central Committee pointed out: The leadership of the Communist Party of China is the most essential feature of socialism with Chinese characteristics and the greatest advantage of the socialist system with Chinese characteristics. The party is the highest political leading force. We must uphold the Party, government, military, and civilian studies, east, west, south, north, and middle, where the party leads everything. In the people's war of the new type of coronavirus-infected pneumonia, we must always resolutely maintain the authority of the Party Central Committee and strengthen the centralized and unified leadership of the Party Central Committee. Party committees and governments at all levels should strengthen the "four consciousnesses", strengthen the "four self-confidences", and "do two safeguards", and insist on unswervingly controlling the decisions of the Party Central Committee under the unified leadership and command of the Party Central Committee. The deployment is implemented, and the prevention and control of the pneumonia epidemic caused by the new type of coronavirus is regarded as the top priority under the current situation.

2.2. The People's Army is a Powerful Driving Force for the Fight Against the Epidemic

The People's Army should always adhere to the mission of "obeying the party's command, being able to win battles, and having a good style", and actively implement the strategic deployment of the Party Central Committee and the Central Military Commission on the fight against the epidemic. Xi Jinping, General Secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of China, President of the State, and Chairman of the Central Military Commission recently issued important instructions to the military for the prevention and control of pneumonia caused by the new coronavirus. Under the unified command of the Party Central Committee and the Central Military Commission, the entire army must keep in mind the purpose of the people's army, act upon orders, bravely shoulder heavy burdens, dare to fight tough battles, and actively support local epidemic prevention and control. Our military's task of medical treatment in Wuhan Huoshenshan Hospital is highly trusted by the party and the people. It is necessary to strengthen organization and leadership, close military-civilian coordination, adhere to scientific management, and do a good job of self-protection, and live up to the heavy trust and mission. Since the 18th National Congress of the Communist Party of China, the Central Committee of the Communist Party of China has clearly proposed to "build a people's army that listens to the party's commands, can win battles, and has a good style." Since the spread of the new coronavirus, the People's Army has been on the front line of the epidemic, and has further implemented the Party Central Committee's concept of strengthening the military on the development of military-civilian integration. The internal requirements of rooting the army in the people, serving the people, and jointly building and strengthening national defense and strengthening the military and civilians is an important way to achieve the unity of a prosperous country and a strong army. It is also an important force to win the battle against the epidemic.

2.3. Give Full Play to the Vanguard Role Model of Party Members

General Secretary Xi emphasized that in the current severe struggle to prevent and control the new type of coronavirus infection, party organizations at all levels and the majority of party members and cadres must keep in mind that the interests of the people are above everything else, do not forget the original aspiration, keep in mind the mission, and unite and lead the general masses of the people resolutely implement the decisions and deployments of the Party Central Committee, and fully implement the requirements of firm confidence, solidarity, scientific prevention and precise policy implementation, and let the party flag fly high on the front line of the fight against epidemics. In this battle against the epidemic, more than 90 million party members across the country are the backbone of this war. [2] Party committees at all levels must scientifically judge the situation, accurately grasp the epidemic, and have unified leadership, unified command, and unified action. The leading groups and leading cadres of the party organizations at all levels, especially the main responsible comrades, must stick to their posts and command ahead, so that they are responsible for keeping the land, and responsible for keeping the land. The grassroots party organizations and the broad masses of party members must play the role of a fighting fortress and an exemplary vanguard, extensively mobilize the masses, organize the masses, and unite the masses, fully implement joint prevention and control measures, and build a strict line of defense for group defense and group governance. Party committees at all levels should investigate and identify cadres in the practice of this severe struggle, inspire and guide the broad masses of party members and cadres to stand up in times of crisis, fight bravely, work hard, withstand the test, and firmly rely on the people to resolutely win the epidemic prevention and control Blockade.

3. We Must Insist on Comprehensively Improving the Ability to Prevent, Control and Govern According to Law and the Construction of a Governance System

my country has always adhered to the position of the broadest masses of the people. Under the influence of the epidemic, we must always put people's life safety and health first, ensure the people's life safety and health, and do our utmost to reduce the pneumonia epidemic caused by the new coronavirus. The impact on people's life safety and physical health. To win the fight against the epidemic, efforts must be made from the legislative, law enforcement, judicial, and law-abiding links to effectively advance prevention and control according to law, scientific prevention and control, and joint prevention and control. Xi Jinping emphasized: "It is hoped that all aspects of the military and civilians will always put the health and safety of the broad masses of people in the first place, sum up experience, and work tirelessly to effectively prevent and control infectious diseases and respond to public health emergencies in order to build a healthy China and realize The Chinese dream of the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation has made new and greater contributions." [3] "Persist in a game of chess across the country, mobilize the polarities of all parties, and concentrate efforts on major issues" [4] Based on the current situation, scientific and precise prevention, summarizing the problems exposed by the epidemic, and drawing lessons from the experience, we must address the shortcomings and deficiencies exposed in this epidemic, pay close attention to the shortcomings, plug loopholes, strengths and weaknesses, and improve the prevention of major epidemics Control systems and mechanisms, and improve the national public health emergency management system.

To comprehensively improve the ability to prevent, control, and govern in accordance with the law and to build a governance system, it is necessary to strengthen the legal protection of public health. Comprehensively strengthen and improve the construction of relevant laws and regulations in the field of public health, carefully evaluate the revision and improvement of laws and regulations such as the Infectious Disease Prevention and Control Law, the Wildlife Protection Law, and reform and improve the disease prevention and control system. Resolutely implement the hygiene and health work policy of focusing on prevention, insist on standing unremittingly, move the prevention barrier forward to avoid minor diseases from becoming major epidemics; reform and improve the prevention, control and treatment system of major epidemics. Improve the emergency response mechanism for major epidemics and establish a centralized, unified and efficient leadership and command system. Improve the effective coordination mechanism of scientific research, disease control, and clinical treatment, improve the prevention and control of major epidemics and emergency treatment management methods; improve the medical insurance and rescue system for major diseases. Improve the emergency medical assistance mechanism to ensure that medical institutions first treat and charge later in emergencies such as outbreaks, and improve the instant settlement system of medical insurance in different places; improve the unified emergency material guarantee system. Make emergency supplies guarantee an important part of the national emergency management system, and improve relevant working mechanisms and emergency plans as soon as possible.

At present, the prevention and control of the epidemic is in a critical period, and scientific and orderly prevention and control in accordance with the law is essential. When the epidemic prevention and control are the most strenuous, the more we must adhere to the prevention and control according to law, coordinate and promote various prevention and control work on the track of the rule of law, comprehensively improve the ability to prevent and control according to law, and ensure the smooth progress of epidemic prevention and control work and maintenance The overall social situation is stable. Party committees and governments at all levels must fully perform their duties in accordance with the law, persist in using rule of law thinking and methods to carry out epidemic prevention and control work, promote the construction of a rule of law government in handling major emergencies, and improve the level of governance and administration according to law.

4. We Must Persist in Actively Fulfilling the World's Responsibilities as a Major Country

On February 23, 2020, Xi Jinping's speech at the conference on coordinating the prevention and control of the new crown pneumonia epidemic and the deployment of economic and social development: Public health security is a common challenge facing mankind, and all countries need to work together to deal with it. It is necessary to continue to maintain good communication with the WHO, share epidemic prevention experience with relevant countries, strengthen international cooperation in the development of antiviral drugs and vaccines, and provide assistance within its capacity to other countries and regions where the epidemic has spread, reflecting the responsibility of a responsible major country.[5]

A few days ago, the new crown virus epidemic continued to spread in many countries. The number of confirmed cases in South Korea, Japan, Iran, Italy and other countries increased significantly. Some countries such as the Netherlands, Nigeria, New Zealand and other countries have been infected for the first time. Many countries have adopted epidemic prevention measures to strengthen response. While the virus is raging, the Chinese government has fulfilled its responsibility as a major country and provided a "Chinese plan" for the world's epidemic prevention work. The Communist Party of China and the Chinese government have always adhered to the people's stand. China's diplomatic work is committed to promoting the building of a community with a shared future for mankind. In the current situation, the epidemic has no borders, and the lives and health of the people have no borders. China insists on combining the interests of the Chinese people with the common interests of the people of other countries, participating in the national epidemic prevention work under the influence of the epidemic with a more active attitude, actively playing the role of the responsible person as a major country, and jointly responding to the challenges of the global epidemic.

In today's world, all countries share safety and security, and are dependent on each other. Maintaining international public security bears on the vital interests of all countries. The epidemic knows no borders. Countries and regions affected by the epidemic in the world should work together to cope with the epidemic prevention and control work that has risen to a global challenge. At present, China has achieved remarkable results in the prevention and control of the epidemic. In particular, it has taken firm steps in the construction of leadership mobilization capabilities and prevention and control capabilities and governance systems, and has provided services to many countries and regions affected by the epidemic. Provided active support and help.

China is an important participant and contributor to global development cooperation. The "China Plan" provides valuable experience and methods for the world's epidemic prevention work. It regards the lives and health of the world's people as a top priority. From the experience in the construction of the epidemic prevention and control system, From vaccine development to international communication, cooperation and assistance, China contributes its strength to the people of all countries and regions affected by the epidemic, fulfills its role as a major country in the international society in the new era, and promotes the building of a community with a shared future for mankind. People in all countries and regions of the world should firmly believe that in the prevention and control of the new coronavirus, if China wins, the world wins! If China exerts its strength, the epidemic will be defeated!
