

On the Scientific Research Status of Music Art Management through Music Periodicals

Wenzheng Yang

Graduate University of Mongolia, Mongolia

Abstract

Music journals are the main research contents published in full-time music colleges and universities in China, and the key contents displayed in music journals are scientific research achievements, which play an important role in them. This is a forum platform for many experts and music scholars to exchange, and it is also the main way for the people in our society to understand the scientific and technological research level of music full-time colleges and universities, which plays an irreplaceable role in the development of music teaching in full-time colleges and universities. Music has its own unique characteristics and charm, which is conducive to cultivating students' comprehensive quality and promoting the knowledge learning of music quality. However, he has been affected by many bad factors, because there are many problems in transportation management in higher vocational colleges in China, and we can't wait for schools and teachers to solve these problems together. Based on music periodicals, this paper discusses the influence of scientific research on music art management in full-time colleges and universities, hoping to help improve the current situation of scientific research on music art management.

Keywords

Scientific Research; Music Periodicals; Music Art Management.

1. Introduction

At present, China has entered the 21st century, In the new century, Knowledge level plays an increasingly important role in China's social and economic construction, The main function of music periodicals is to integrate information, collect effective information and transmit it. Give full play to the application of music periodicals in music art management, Is conducive to extracting information for the broad masses of the people, It provides a broad platform for experts and academic exchanges of music, and can also provide students with effective learning information, which can have a deeper understanding of music professional knowledge, enhance students' interest in learning, stimulate students' creative ability of music, and at the same time help improve students' understanding ability.

2. The Current Situation of Music Art Management

With the development of scientific research and technology in China, music periodicals have won great attention from music experts and have an extremely important position. However, music literacy culture is lacking, the cultural foundation is weak, the knowledge is narrow, and although the thinking is active, the ideal goal is not clear. And the discipline of their own control is not strong, easily affected by external factors, many students are free and lax, unorganized and disciplined, and one-sided pursuit of music personality, poor sense of teamwork. Polarization is serious, which affects the style of study.

Through the investigation of music periodicals, statistics of music periodicals in the application of art management class, in the course of investigation mainly for the music art literature and art discipline standard documents were investigated, and the form of questionnaires to the art management of the status quo was compiled.

The main purpose of the investigation is to analyze the present situation of music art management through music periodicals, to have a deeper understanding of the current scientific research situation, to help the development of music art management specialty by making full use of music health information in music classroom, and to effectively improve the quality of music art management.

In the content of the survey found that students have a strong interest in music journals, students and teachers pay more attention to music courses, and also investigated teachers' professional satisfaction, as well as teachers' understanding of professional knowledge and training.

Nowadays, students are very interested in learning music major, and they all like music major courses very much. Only a few students take music major for further studies, saying that they don't like it very much. Many students will pass music journals.

Understand music works, actively acquire music professional knowledge, learn music majors and music works through multiple channels, and improve their professional knowledge and skills. Moreover, many music experts also pay great attention to the contents of music journals, because experts will capture effective information for scientific research according to the contents of music journals, and music journals provide experts with a platform to acquire knowledge, which is beneficial to the development of music art management.

3. The Development of Music Journals in the Discipline of Music Art Management

As a kind of media and news carrier, music periodicals play an extremely important role in art management. In the development of Chinese culture, we constantly debug ourselves and show it in the best form in the course of layout. What is related to students and the people is the living conditions of music journals. Music journals will conduct research, investigation and information combing on the history and present situation, which can effectively understand the current research status and future development orientation of music art management major, and help to further expand the research of music art management major.

After the reform and opening up, China's national economy has developed rapidly, people's material and cultural level has been greatly improved, and their demands for music art life have become more and more diversified. Music periodicals must adapt to the changes of music art management, provide support for art management specialty to the greatest extent, and at the same time meet the survival and development of music periodicals themselves.

Music periodicals can provide a good learning atmosphere for music art management, sublimate the feeling of music beauty, and thus start the association of music. Not only that, but also enable students and music hobby experts to enrich their professional knowledge, study psychology, improve music professional skills and increase their attention to music art. Therefore, music art can swim in students' interests, effectively improve their active thinking ability, ensure the learning efficiency of music, and achieve emotional resonance.

To fully understand music knowledge, Understand China's modern information technology, Increase the amount of information obtained from music art management, Improve music management resources, Show music professional knowledge more intuitively, Improve the quality level of music art management, In the process of music art management, We should make full use of all the resources we can mobilize, The contents of music files are summed up, and the implementation of art management is carried out in combination with students' physical and mental development. With the help of teachers, students are guided to fully feel the changes of music, enhance students' imagination and creative thinking of art, and constantly cultivate students' perception of music thinking.

4. How to Manage Music Art

Improve students' interest in learning. Improve students' practicality and innovation in music. Make full use of the role of music periodicals, apply music art management discipline, provide it with more scientific, effective, intuitive and vivid management resources, enhance students' sensory feelings, and create a special music management atmosphere. As a music teacher, We should pay attention to guiding students to actively participate in music management, Maximize students' subjective enthusiasm, give full play to students' interest in learning, consciously participate in the classroom, realize the beauty of music art, deeply understand music aesthetics, feel the degree of beauty, increase their own music literacy and enhance students' music aesthetic ability.

Adhere to the people-oriented educational philosophy. Pay attention to the classification of music periodicals, There are some differences in students' professional development, When managing music art, Pay attention to the individual differences of students, Increase attention, Therefore, targeted management measures are launched, Teach students in accordance with their aptitude according to their situation and learning content, Choose music periodical materials suitable for students to learn from, According to students' actual situation, choose the content of music major to study, To extract the effective information from music periodicals and integrate them to meet the individualized needs of students, music art management should carry out effective music activities, guide and encourage students to actively participate in music activities, give full play to the charm of music, improve their understanding ability of music and enhance the efficiency of music art management.

Formulate a perfect syllabus and strengthen the management level of students. In China's music colleges, special attention should be paid to the fact that teachers should actively guide students to communicate music, jointly explore effective materials of music journals, always pay attention to students' incomprehension in music learning, repair existing loopholes in time, strengthen the study of music art, and evaluate their own technical level. The precise positioning of music periodicals is conducive to obtaining effective information in time. For the music art system through the senses, music periodicals play a considerable role in music art management. And music journals will be digitally mediated, All-media products have been created, digital transformation and upgrading have been carried out, and the technological development of music periodicals has created a new music carrier for music art. With its own advantages and potentials, it has explored and developed infinitely according to different audience psychology, and has various creativity for content, which is conducive to increasing readers' deep feelings for music art. For all of us, music is a professional knowledge that can enrich the spiritual world, and it is also an indispensable artistic charm. Schools also need to constantly innovate learning methods, enrich students' musical spiritual world, cultivate musical sentiment, and manage students through this musical art.

5. Conclusion

To sum up, Music art management is the overall management of students, Under the development of the new situation, we need to innovate constantly, carry out correct music art management and love the work of managing students, so as to effectively carry out music art management, constantly explore music classroom content and strive to improve the quality of music art management specialty.

References

- [1] Research on the Ways and Methods of Integrating Fashion Music Elements into Campus Culture of Higher Vocational Colleges [J]. Zhu Xiaoyan. Journal of Taiyuan City Vocational and Technical College. 2018 (10).
- [2] The importance of music appreciation course in cultivating students' humanistic quality in higher vocational colleges [J]. Huang Wenzhuan. Journal of Hubei Correspondence University. 2018 (16).
- [3] The role of chorus and conductor teaching in public art education courses in higher vocational colleges [J]. Zhang Lin. Modern Economic Information. 2018 (01).
- [4] Interpretation of Art Management Thinking, Production and Promotion of Publicity Materials-"The Sound of Golden Cup" Accordion Music Festival as an Example [J]. Yan Kehong. Northern Music. 2017 (14).
- [5] The name is simple and self-evident-the experience of "shadow area" of "music art management" [J]. Tang Guorong. Art Garden. 2016 (06).
- [6] Research on the Reform of Music Literacy Teaching for Musicology Art Management Major [J]. Luan Xiling. Popular Literature and Art. 2016 (07).
- [7] Some thoughts on the "connotative" development of music art management [J]. She Xiuyin. Art Appraisal. 2017 (07).
- [8] Research on Music Art Management and Talent Training [J]. She Xiuyin. Contemporary Music. 2017 (06).