Abstract

The people expect the new man of the times, the motherland calls for the new man of the times, and the nation holds up the new man of the times. In the context of the new era, the freshman admission mode is more and more important, and is an essential link to cultivate the new man of the times in a country. This paper explores how to cultivate the new man of the times with high quality in the new era and take a road to the rejuvenation of a strong education country by studying the new student admission mode of colleges and universities.

Keywords

New generation, New students, Enrollment pattern.

1. Concepts

The New Generation is the embodiment and requirement of "socialist builders and successors" in the new era. It refers to those who are at the forefront of the new era of socialism with Chinese characteristics, who are firm, confident, progressive and responsible, who have ideal beliefs, patriotic sentiments, moral qualities, knowledge and insight, striving spirit and comprehensive qualities, and who are able to take up The New Generation of the Times is a group of people who are capable of taking up the historical responsibility of the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation. [1] The new generation of the times is the driving force of a country's development, the hope of a nation's progress, and the mainstay of an era. General Secretary Xi Jinping requires "in the new journey of accelerating the modernization of education to cultivate the new man of the times who will assume the great responsibility of national rejuvenation", emphasizing "to promote the all-round development of students' moral, intellectual, physical, social and aesthetic development, and to cultivate students' patriotism, social responsibility, innovative spirit and practical ability. ". In the new journey of struggle, cultivating socialist builders and successors with all-round development of moral, intellectual, physical, social and aesthetic skills is crucial to serving the national strategic needs, accelerating the construction of a strong talent country and achieving the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation.

College freshmen, mainly high school graduates through participation in the national unified examination for admission to colleges and universities, etc., is about to start college life of the student body. This is a special social group, is receiving higher basic education, is about to step into the society of the transition stage front group. The new students of colleges and universities, as the professional talents trained by the state, are the star fire of the times, and they will not be slack and self-improvement for the bright future of China.

New students' entrance education is the first link to realize the whole process of all-round education in colleges and universities, and it is an important content to strengthen the ideological and political education work of students in colleges and universities, and it is an important initiative to adhere to the link of establishing moral education in colleges and universities. Colleges and universities bear the burden of how to cultivate high-quality professionals and shape excellent new people of the times, and forge ahead for the bright future of China.

2. The Current Situation and Problems of the Development of New Student Admission Model in Colleges and Universities

On the journey of the new era, major universities, guided by Xi Jinping's thought of socialism with Chinese characteristics in the new era, deeply implement the spirit of the 19th CPC National Congress and the 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th Plenary Sessions of the 19th CPC Central Committee, implement the National Conference on Ideological and Political Work in Universities, the National and Regional Education Conferences and the spirit of General Secretary Xi Jinping's important discourse on ideological and political work in universities, aim at students' growth and success, focus on Through rich, diversified, distinctive and effective freshmen education activities, we help freshmen take the first step on the road of becoming ideal, competent and responsible socialist builders and successors. At the same time, there is a contradiction between the state of physical and mental development and university life.

2.1. Ideal Beliefs Are Easy to Slacken, The Correct Three Views Must Be Cultivated

Ideal beliefs are an important part of new students' entrance education, and its effectiveness directly affects the effectiveness of new students' entrance education. First of all, students are always in the process of development, they are independently developing individuals with individual differences, their physical and mental development speed and level are different, and there are still some differences in their vision and perspective of whether they can see things correctly. In the transition stage from high school to university, the ideals and beliefs of new students are still in a hazy stage, and their worldview, outlook on life and values are not yet fully formed, so there are many uncertainties about their future development. Secondly, in the information age, new students are vulnerable to the impact of multiple information when they first enter colleges and universities, and their values will be affected in different ways, thus affecting their emotions and motives in activities and interactions in college life. For new students to establish correct ideal beliefs, the information age is a double-edged sword, with both positive and negative influences. In the face of the profusion of information, new students can effectively absorb its contents, thus broadening their life horizons and contributing to a correct understanding of the world. However, new students lack certain ability to judge whether the information is correct or not, and they are easy to guide their own behavior according to the wrong information, thus setting up negative values and affecting the choice of life path. Therefore, colleges and universities, as the stage where new students are about to show themselves, are obliged to help new students, strengthen their ideals and beliefs and establish correct three views.

2.2. The New Crown Epidemic Needs to Be Set up to Prevent, Campus Safety to Be Tightened

Campus safety management is a basic requirement and important condition for the normal operation of universities. Since 2020, the Newcastle pneumonia epidemic has ravaged China, affecting students' life on campus and increasing the difficulty of campus safety management. First of all, new students are not familiar with the campus safety management system when they enter the university campus, and their awareness of safety prevention is weak, and their self-protection awareness in the face of the Newcastle pneumonia epidemic needs to be strengthened. For example, new students are unfamiliar with the rules and regulations of entering and leaving the campus and the leave process, and are prone to violate the disciplinary system of the university. Secondly, the university campus management system is more extensive than the secondary school management system, and the specific requirements in the regulations are different and in a state of change and development according to the requirements of the times. In addition, the campus environment is more relaxed and there is wide circulation between people on and off campus, which makes it difficult to shape the campus safety environment. For example, in recent years, there have been a number of cases of university-related personnel infected with neocrown pneumonia, thus causing emergency control on campus and affecting the physical and mental health of teachers and students. Furthermore, the number of students in colleges and universities is relatively large, bringing together students from all over the world, which is susceptible to local living habits and individual differences and has certain management difficulties. Therefore, the entrance safety education for new students is a necessary part that colleges and universities need to execute to achieve high requirements, high speed and high precision to create a safe campus environment.

2.3. Love and Honor The School Need to Be Inherited, Humanistic Sentiment to Be Planted

The education of love and honor for the university is an important measure to inherit the essence of the excellent spirit of the university, to plant the original heart of running the university, to continuously cultivate students' responsibility and sense of historical mission, and to let students draw nutrients and grow. When new students enter the university, their familiarity with the university is low, and their sense of cultural affinity, belonging and identity needs to be constantly improved. Humanism is the discovery of truth and beauty in life, to understand, appreciate and create more warmth. Humanistic sentiment is not something that people are born with, it is something that they have to explore, appreciate and accumulate little by little in the social practice. Freshmen entering university can only give superficial and pale answers to the questions of what humanistic feelings are and how to have and maintain them.

2.4. The Connotation of Major Is Not Clear, and The Direction of Guidance Is to Be Planned

As new students, they have already made their first choice about the direction of their college majors when they step into the threshold of college. However, compared with the education that new students received in the past, the content and the way of university education have changed a lot. In terms of content, university education is a deeper system of knowledge and the interface with social reality, requiring students to conduct more in-depth research and exploration based on their previous studies, with a deeper theoretical foundation and richer professional knowledge. In terms of teaching methods, university education has changed the traditional "one person, one seat" fixed mode of most secondary education, and students do not have a fixed seat in the classroom, but attend classes in a "walk-in" mode, which is mobile. Therefore, new students often feel confused and disoriented about the meaning and direction of their majors. Firstly, they do not have sufficient understanding of their chosen majors, and the contents of their majors are unfamiliar; secondly, the information they receive in a short period of time has a great impact, and they cannot plan their study arrangement and development direction in time. Therefore, it is necessary for colleges and universities to clarify the connotation of majors and guide them to establish a clear and reasonable orientation at the time of new students' entrance.

At present, in order to welcome new students, do a good job in new students' entrance education and help them adapt to university life smoothly, quickly and healthily, universities and colleges make overall layout and make relevant plans for new students' entrance education activities by combining the law of new students' physical and mental development and the needs of the times, so as to link theory with practice and cut into multiple perspectives. At the same time of carrying out a series of education work, colleges and universities often base on normalized daily education activities, through the form of online and offline interconnection, make full use of the advantages of Internet information technology for the effect of education and teaching management, and carry out a number of new students' entrance education activities, so as to effectively achieve rich content and its wide scope, and lay a good adaptation platform for the entering freshmen.

3. Main Contents of New Students' entrance Education Mode

According to the common problems existing in new students, the new students' entrance education in colleges and universities mainly focuses on ideal and belief education, new crown epidemic prevention and control education, love and honor education and academic planning education.

3.1. Various Forms to Grasp The Essence and Strengthen The Education of Ideal and Belief

The ideal and belief education is about the fundamental issue of what kind of people to train, how to train people and for whom to train people. The ideal and belief education in colleges and universities should always follow the law of students' physical and mental development as well as the requirements of education philosophy, and constantly improve the moral quality and comprehensive quality of new students. With the main line of daily ideal and belief education, colleges and universities focus on relevant special lectures and carry out a series of special education such as initiation education of new students into the party, new students' military training and national defense education and special lecture forms with the principle of focus and no relaxation. In terms of party initiation education, colleges and universities can carry out new students' party initiation education activities, starting from the basic knowledge of the party, requirements of party initiation and party initiation procedures, to clarify the motivation of new students to join the party and realize the goal of making new students actively approach the party organization. In order to consolidate the effect of new students' party education, colleges and universities can organize and arrange lectures on the theme of party education to guide students to understand the current situation of the motherland, establish the firm ideal belief of serving the motherland and dedicating their youth to the motherland, and encourage students to study hard and become reliable successors of the modernization construction of socialism with Chinese characteristics.

In terms of new students' military training and national defense education, all universities have taken the initiative to carry out various forms of military training as well as new students' mobilization. Under the careful guidance and strict training of instructors, the goal of skill enhancement and will exercise is achieved. At the same time, colleges and universities do not relax in this aspect of national defense education. Generally, colleges and universities invite instructors to conduct national defense education for new students during military training, and adopt the form of instructors talking about military life to strengthen the national defense consciousness of new students, cultivate patriotism and collectivism, help them develop good study and living habits, and lay the foundation for new students to cultivate a hard-working quality of life and a disciplined style of work.

In order to further consolidate the achievements of ideal and belief education for new students, universities often take the form of special lectures to further strengthen the moral quality and comprehensive quality of students in a targeted manner. Their lectures are conducted in various ways, through offline field teaching, online network teaching, etc., to give all new students a useful course of education, which is of great significance to cultivate the new man of the times who shoulders the responsibility of the Chinese dream of the great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation.

3.2. Keeping a Tight Grip on Safety and Building a Line of Defense for Epidemic Prevention and Control

In the campus safety management and building the defense line of the new crown epidemic, colleges and universities should update the campus student handbook, the new crown pneumonia epidemic protection handbook and the prevention and control guide in time, and do a good job in the epidemic prevention and control emergency handling exercises, national and regional epidemic prevention and control policy interpretation and daily student affairs management. Before new students enter school, colleges and universities can introduce the school situation and campus environment to new students through tweets and other forms, and answer their questions in time; in order to better carry out teaching work after new students arrive at school, colleges and universities can use online forms to urge new students to complete the "new coronavirus pneumonia prevention and control knowledge test" on time and in quality. "Through the examinations, we can educate the prospective students to help them better adapt to the university campus life, protect their safety and safeguard their rights and interests. During the reporting process of new students, relevant leaders and counselors of colleges and universities should arrange the reporting process properly in advance and train the volunteers to ensure the smooth completion of the reporting work under the care of colleges and universities, the attention of counselors and the help of volunteers. Only by establishing the first line of defense of campus safety can the management of colleges and universities continue to carry out.

3.3. Planting Humanistic Feelings and Deeply Grasping The Education of Love and Honor of The University

Love and honor education is an effective measure for colleges and universities to integrate new blood into the group. Through the humanistic experience, the improvement of teachers and students' understanding, the visit of school culture and the opening ceremony, etc., the new students can increase their familiarity and identity with the university, and feel the excellent spiritual and cultural connotation of the university, so that they can experience the humanistic care of the university first hand. Firstly, colleges and universities often arrange students with rich experience to be class assistants of new students, so that they can give detailed and specific answers to the questions of new students and guide them to visit the excellent culture of the school, so as to enhance their understanding and love of the school; secondly, colleges and universities will organize freshmen counselors to hold grade meetings in an organized and systematic way, and the leaders and teachers in charge will talk with new students face to face, so that new students can fully In addition, each university will carry out a unique opening ceremony to educate the new students about the humanistic taste and care of campus culture and give them infinite expectations, so as to stimulate their enthusiasm for learning and achieve the good effect of education of loving and honoring the university.

3.4. Pay Attention to Professional Guidance and Strengthen Academic Planning Education

Professional guidance and academic planning education is an important measure based on the central link of establishing moral education in colleges and universities, and is the compass for students to achieve the goal of growth and success. In order to do a good job of professional guidance and academic planning education for new students, colleges and universities usually adopt the way of special lectures and invite professional scholars to guide new students on academic planning, cultivate the spirit of "promoting the way of university and laying the foundation of life", guide new students to establish correct world view, life view and value, guide new students to do a good job of development planning of university life, and help them build a harmonious life. It also guides new students to plan their development of college life and helps them to establish harmonious interpersonal relationships so that they can quickly integrate into the collective environment. Based on the characteristics of students' majors, the university provides guidance to new students on the cultivation of independent thinking and the establishment of correct three views, and urges them to make a preliminary orientation of their future life and make accurate plans for their college life on this basis, guiding them to take the initiative to combine their career planning with national strategies and social needs, so as to achieve the goal of unifying their personal development with national prosperity.

4. Conclusion

Under the background of cultivating the new generation of the times, universities have made certain achievements and experiences in the new students' entrance work, and on this basis, they have made advance planning for the future work, focusing on the creation of special brand activities, strengthening the ideological leadership of students and the construction of regular mechanism. For how to cultivate the new generation of young people to take the stage of the times in the background of the new era, colleges and universities have rich experience, further improve the good work and special activities, and build a research model through the three-level mechanism of school leaders' guidance, counselors' discussion and students' effect feedback, forming a new student admission system that focuses on ideal and belief education, concerns about students' growth and success, cultivates students' humanistic feelings and is rich in college characteristics. In addition, it has formed a new student enrollment system that focuses on ideal and belief education, focuses on students' growth and talent, cultivates students' humanistic feelings and is rich in university characteristics, and continuously consolidates the achievements of ideological and political education of college students.
